The Mineral Lands

The following sensible remarks upon the proposition to sell the mineral lands are taken from the late report of J M Edmunds Commissioner of the General Land Office. It would be well if those members of Congress who are exercising themselves so terribly over this subject could be made to understand this plain reasoning:

Schemes for the disposal of the mineral lands varied and numerous as the combinations of interests directed to their acquisition will be presented for the consideration of the legislative department and each will be urged upon public attention with all the fervency which can be inspired by the magnitude of the matter involved than which none greater in a pecuniary sense ever existed. The ostensible purpose of all parties will be to fill the public treasury with the golden product.

Prominent among these and the measure that will be urged with the greatest tenacity [illegible] the most important argument and extravagant promises of astounding results to the treasury will be the project for the survey and sale of this class of lands.

In the discussion of such plans it should not be forgotten that the policy of deriving direct revenue from all other portions of the public domain has been abandoned by the adoption of the homestead principle in favor of actual settlers and the bestowal upon States and corporations of extensive grants for purposes of education internal improvement and drainage that these grants [illegible] cover an extent greater than the original thirteen States and that considering the Pacific States and the new Territories the system is but half developed. Other land concessions equally great must in pursuance of this policy be made to the numerous States and Territories.

Such being the established views of the Government in relation to its arable and swamp lands the question naturally arises with the masses of the people directly interested being the miners and the settlers, upon what principle of public justice or sound policy are they alone required to contribute beyond those engaged in other pursuits?

In this connection the fact is also presented, that of the million of square miles over which this great mineral wealth is scattered not to exceed one hundredth part is mineral bearing to an extent that is compensating to labor and capital. The small portion which is mineral bearing can only be definitely ascertained by expensive explorations and no inconsiderable portion of the non mineral bearing area is utterly worthless for all other purposes.

To what extent by any system of subdivision and sale are the purchasers expected to pay for the worthless portion?

Is it rational to suppose it will be done to an extent that will defray the great expense of any system of surveys over these almost inaccessible mountains and defiles?

If the worthless will not sell what price is to be attached to the strictly mineral bearing areas? How are these particular subdivisions to be ascertained?

If by the government the cost will enormously far greater than any minimum which will be established. If by individual exploration is the explorer not to be given a preference right to purchase for the risk and outlay of labor and capital?

If not their exploration will be deprived of its principal stimulant and consequently sales will cease, except at a very low minimum—so low as not to justify individual risk—whilst aggregate receipts will be diminished to less than the cost of administering the system.

The experience of nearly twenty years has demonstrated the fact that valuable discoveries have invariably been the result of accident or individual enterprise that in no instance has the large public expenditure for survey and exploration of the region in question resulted in bringing to the knowledge of the public the exact locality of valuable deposits of the precious metals.

Again the value of the mineral deposit is not estimated or determined like that of arable lands, by the superficial area included in any subdivision, but by the richness of the deposit and its perpendicular lateral and lineal extent far beneath the surface—it may be one hundred or fifteen hundred feet—to be ascertained, in either case by years of labor and corresponding outlay of capital.

Until some approximate estimate can be reached by what rule can any minimum be established which shall either serve as an indication of value be compensating to the Government or bear any equitable ratio between the various localities?

If an explorer shall discover a valuable deposit he will not make the fact known to the representative of the Government until he has become the purchaser and owner of the land, and therefore all lands valuable for mineral, the character of which has not been established prior to the time when they shall be opened for sale will be purchased at the ordinary rate which must be a very low minimum and consequently the title will pass from the United States without reference to the tract either as extremely valuable or very inferior in mineral location.

It may be said that many poor locations will be sold which will compensate for the sale of a few good ones at a low price. This is presupposing that the individual who pays his money will be equally as indifferent as the Government which only parts with a few acres of its vast domain of the value of which it has not and can have no exact information.

In practice this will seldom occur and even if it should the advantage to the Government resulting from driving a hard bargain with one of its citizens is hardly conceivable. Clearly the more numerous this class of cases the less benefit will it be to the country.

ELOQUENT EXTRACT FROM A SPEECH OF SENATOR NYE.—In the Senate May 10th Mr Nye delivered a speech on reconstruction from which we take this eloquent extract:

Mr President: Three weeks ago I went over to Arlington Heights. I counted there a great many graves and they told me there were fourteen thousand dead soldiers reposing upon the Heights of Arlington. Early in May 1861, I stood upon those heights and there was not a grave there. The inquiry naturally arose in my mind why are so many here now? I found a quick and ready answer in a recurrence to the terrible revolution of the last five years. There lie mingled the remains of rebels and the remains of Union men. I noticed not unfrequently as I passed along the inscription "unknown" on the headboard of the Union soldier. Sir in behalf of that unknown soldier I require prudence at the hands of this Congress. There I got the inspiration if I may use the expression of extreme caution. I stand here the advocate of that unknown soldier and in his name and by his memory I demand of the Congress of the United States that they shall tread cautiously in this great work of binding up the wounds of the country. In the name of all the dead I demand it. In the name of mourning millions I require at the hands of everybody who is engaged in this work to see to it that it is done in such a way as to render a recurrence of this terrible rebellion impossible. Stain not again the fair fields of this country with loyal blood; rear no more hecatombs of loyal bones but stand here in this breach made by them as the Romans stood firm and determined that what you do shall be well done and that it shall not require doing again. If all these recollections are not enough in the name of the martyred Lincoln I demand prudence at the hands of the American Government. If that is not enough I demand it in the name of the mangled living.

THE MAIN LINE IN ISSUE.—The Stockton (Cal) Independent remarks:

The great point at issue—that upon which by concentration of forces the whole Union party could be brought to agree is the paramount war of Congress over the Executive branch of the Government. Going before the country on this single issue we could carry every State and nine tenths of the Congressional districts in the Union. We could only make the people understand us when we told them that the President had acted the tyrant, had usurped powers properly belonging to their Representatives in Congress and to the States, had violated Constitutions at the point of the bayonet, had set aside elections which according to his own avowed principles were legal and by his sovereign will indicated in every one of the late Southern States his own creatures to hold this that and another office. The commonest understanding would readily comprehend that usurpations like these are no less than the practices of an absolute despot and that their inevitable tendency is to convert the Republic into an Empire reducing Congress to the abject condition of the French Legislature or a Roman Senate after Augustus had shorn it of all power and made it the obsequious servant of his will. No nation ever passed through a great revolution and came out of it without great changes in its constituent principles. Revolutions leave their ink marks on the laws as well as their blood marks upon the battle field.

WHY IS IT?—Why is it that in the late election in this Territory and in the State of Oregon every [illegible] was ever in the rebel guerrilla service or in any rebel army [illegible] long the war [illegible] advocated the cause of the rebels [illegible] voted the Democratic ticket? Why is it that every [illegible] during the war [illegible] was a rebel at heart and rejoiced at any defeat of the Union armies [illegible] ticket? Why is it that [illegible] Democratic party claim to be of the Union?—Vancouver Register

Because he went into that guerrilla band or rebel army at the instigation of Democratic leaders fought for the only two principles which the Democracy has had for years—"loaves and fishes" and "rule or ruin."—It was to him a Democratic war waged for and in behalf of the Democratic party. Democrats were the only friends he had and they were the only ones from whom he did not receive "coercion." Besides a guerrilla band or rebel army fighting for secession treason and kindred articles of faith, most naturally taught nothing else but Democracy. Having fought raided and stolen with the Democratic party for over four years, they could not be expected to do otherwise now than vote with the Democracy. There is no mystery about the matter Bro Hines. "Birds of a feather flock together" you know.

In reply to the latter query of the Register, allow us to ask why did Satan rebuke Sin? He wanted to deceive somebody did not he?

A traveler says he saw Gen McClellan at Dresden a few weeks ago, and that it was thought he would break up his winter quarters and advance in the spring as soon as his horses were well of the sore mouth, and as soon as he was properly reinforced and the roads were dry."

THREATS AGAIN—THE OLD SPIRIT.—The Richmond Examiner enraged at the remarks of Senator Sherman respecting the letter of Wade Hampton, which Reverdy Johnson introduced in the Senate the other day, bids Sherman to recollect Preston Brooks, and beware of Southern vengeance.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 19 1866.

General Lewis Cass

This distinguished statesman died Sunday morning at his residence at Detroit, Michigan. He was born at Exeter, New Hampshire, Oct 19th 1782, and had therefore filled more than the ordinary measure of life—almost eighty four years In 1800, after having acquired an academic education, he went with his father to the N W Territory. He studied law at Marietta and was admitted to the bar in 1802 In 1806 he was elected a member of the Ohio Legislature, in the next session of which he achieved his first distinction in pushing measures against the Burr conspirators. In recognition of these services, President Jefferson appointed him United States Marshal for Ohio. He was among the first to volunteer in the war of 1812, was chosen Colonel of the 3d Ohio regiment, and commanded in the skirmish at Aux Canards river where the first British blood was shed. He served with distinction till the latter part of 1813, when he was appointed Governor of Michigan Two years subsequently he removed his family to Detroit where he has ever since resided. To his efforts more than perhaps to any other man are due the rapid subjugation of the Indian tribes and the development of the territory of the North-west. Taking an active part in the administration of public affairs, his commanding ability was soon acknowledged as of National breadth, and in 1831, he was appointed Secretary of War by President Jackson, which post he exchanged in 1836 for that of Ambassador to the French Court. As a diplomat he won unusual distinction, figuring conspicuously in the famous Quintuple treaty of 1841. In 1844 he was elected U. S. Senator from Michigan He soon distinguished himself in that body on the Oregon question, and always thereafter maintained an eminent and leading rank. In 1848, he became the Democratic candidate for President but was beaten by Gen. Taylor and was returned to the Senate again in 1849 where he remained till the 4th of March, 1857. He served as Secretary of State under Buchanan and with the close of that unfortunate term, he retired from public life. His character, both public and private, is too well known to require comment here. With the death of Lewis Cass the American people part reluctantly, full of years and honors though he be, with another of those men who connect them with one of our proudest eras.

Unmasking.

From a lengthy letter which recently appeared in the London Times, it seems that President Johnson not long ago completely unbosomed himself to a correspondent of that journal. The Johnsonian "policy" is expatiated on by this correspondent with such carefulness of statement and minuteness of detail as to leave no doubt of the genuineness of the reported conversation with the President. The extraordinary character of some of the statements which this writer for the English press reports as coming from Mr. Johnson, challenges attention. It is of great consequence for the Union party to ascertain the precise relations which exist between itself and the President, and to be informed of his views in regard to the perpetuation of its organization. The correspondent of the Times reports the President as saying that the "object of the Radical party which now has control over Congress was manifest, and it was one which, from their point of view, they could scarcely be blamed for pursuing so eagerly. They knew perfectly well that when the South came back into Congress their day of power would be over—the Southern representatives would stand as a unit; they would probably fall into allegiance again with the Democratic party, the old issues of slavery and State sovereignty would be dead and buried, and the party which now ruled would be stripped of its power." This is nothing less than an unequivocal admission on the part of the President that he has been using all the means at his command to break down the party which has preserved the country, and to hand the Government over to a combination of rebels and Copperheads. He tells us that the result of his "policy" will be to "strip the party which now rules of its power," and that the strenuous and resolute opposition with which he has been met by Congress, springs from the determination of its members to resist his attempts to disrupt the Union party and to transfer the Government to an "alliance" of white-washed rebels and semi-treasonable Democrats. This is the very charge the loyal masses of the North have been urging against him ever since the development of his "policy" commenced. According to his own statement of the matter in dispute between himself and Congress, the question is whether "loyal men shall govern the preserved Republic," or whether traitors and their allies shall rule in this Government. The President's language puts the whole issue on a level with the meanest comprehension. If we are to rely on what he says, we must hereafter regard him as designing and endeavoring to bring about the disintegration of the Union party.

The President assumes that the "Southern representatives will fall into an alliance with the Democratic party." What will be the object of that alliance? What policy will it unite to carry out? Southern rebels and Northern Copperheads have some common object in view, else they would combine. Now what is this purpose? Do they intend to revive "the old issues of slavery and State sovereignty" which the President says are dead? Is it their design to oppose the payment of the National debt, and by repealing the tax laws, to cause its final repudiation? Or do they mean to pay the rebel war debt and compensate the South for her slaves? These are interesting questions, and become very pertinent when a combination like that which the President talks of, is mentioned as among the probabilities.

If the President intends, as his own words indicate, to use all his energies to break down the Union party, that party should be very thankful that it has received from him a full declaration of his intentions.

Will They Stand on Ely?—Thad. Stevens the "fiendish," the abolition goblin, Stevens, is out in a speech in favor of the "Monroe doctrine." That was whilom a make-weight in the copperatic platform of Oregon, put in, not to mean anything but, as P V Nasby would say, "because it sounds well" While the Democratic stump-howlers have been splitting their throats and Democratic scribblers have been wearing their quills to the feather, in the laudable effort to convince white men of their superiority to the "nigger," old Thad has slipped in upon them, captured their half protected and more than half-starved "Monroe doctrine" and carried it triumphantly off into his horrible, goblin den of abolitionism. What will the Pecksniffian coppers do now? Will they surrender to the daring Thad. the care and custody of their darling, and go off by themselves to gnaw their finger's-ends raw with vexation, or will they valiantly follow into the fastness of the "bold, bad man" and share with him the paternal anxieties of rearing the pet into manhood? Will their extreme solicitude for the child prove a full match or more for the mortal dread they have of its monster captor? Poor cops! You have lost your thunder, and Thad. has got it You have nothing left you now but to "wail a wail uv ongwish" and then go on with your liveliest psalm of the "nigger."

Personal.—W. A. McPherson Esq. editor of the Albany Journal, and Judge Odeneal of the Corvallis Gazette are in the city We had the pleasure of a call from them yesterday.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN]

DATES TO JUNE 17.

Thaddeus Stevens Declares for the Monroe Doctrine.

Washington, June 16.—Thaddeus Stevens appeared in the House to-day and delivered a speech on Mexican affairs which took everybody by surprise. He boldly denounced Maximilian and declared that the Government should give some practical expression of its intention to enforce the Monroe doctrine. To this end he was willing that the Government should indorse the $50,000,000 Mexican loan now under consideration by the committee on foreign affairs. It may be added in this connection that the committee hope to report on the subject during the coming week

Privileged Papers on File in the Departments.

In a case pending before Judge Olin, Secretary Stanton was summoned as a witness to produce a letter on file in the department, alleged to contain the libel complained of, and which had injured the plaintiff in his business transacted with the Government. Stanton to-day put in an affidavit respectfully submitting his objections to the production of the letter in question and asking to be discharged from attendance. The affidavit bore the indorsement of Attorney General Speed who says the letters on file with heads of the departments are privileged communications and says their publication has been unauthorized. No copies could be taken at private request and the production of the original cannot be compelled in any suits betwixt individuals. It has been ruled that such communications cannot be made the foundation of an action for libel. Then I think the head of the department is bound not to produce a paper on file in his office. Such a letter as you describe is a private communication. Judge Olin reserved his decision

The Advance in Gold—The European War

The extraordinary advance in gold to-day, the European war and the Mexican question are subjects of absorbing discussion. This morning the first question caused general inquiry at the Treasury Department as to what recourse is to be developed in this emergency, but without eliciting any answer worthy of note. The culminating news from Europe, however, does not come unexpectedly, and Secretary Seward indulges his callers with the rosy picture that in the event of a general brawl across the sea, the United States would maintain strict neutrality and reap ten-fold the commerce lost during our own insurrection

Renewal of Application for Jeff Davis' Parole.

The friends and counsel of Jeff Davis have renewed with vigor their application to the President for his parole.

Congressional.

Washington, June 15.—In the House, immediately after reading the Journal, Mr Spaulding, of Ohio, introduced a resolution for the appointment of a select committee of five members to investigate the affairs between Rosseau and Grinnell and report such resolutions in reference thereto as in their judgment may be necessary for the vindication of the proceedings of the House and between its members. The resolutions were unanimously adopted without debate. Rosseau and Grinnell were both in their seats. It is ascertained beyond reasonable doubt that the assault was premeditated for two days Rosseau is very rarely seen with a cane, and the rattan used seems to have been bought or borrowed for this occasion He is reported to have taken counsel with some of his friends yesterday afternoon as to whether he should thrash Grinnell in the House or outside the chamber Rosseau was considered at the close of Monday's debate to stand first best, and in the opinion of most members of the House could have afforded to let the matter drop. His course in resorting to personal violence has, however, changed the current of feeling. Sympathies of the public are generally with Grinnell. Many members think Rosseau will be expelled unless he makes full apology to the House as well as to Grinnell.

Mr Bingham reported from reconstruction committee concurrent resolutions requesting the President to transmit the Constitutional amendment to Governors of various States for action of legislatures. Leblond, of Ohio, maden point that said amendment had not been submitted to the President for his signature, and therefore no action could be taken at present by the House. The Speaker overruled the point of order and decided officially that the Constitution does not require amendments to be laid before the President, supporting his position by references to the previous course of amendments and by the decision of the Supreme Court Leblond then objected to the introduction of the resolution, and Bingham said he would present it again on Monday

Senate spent morning hour on Pacific Railroad bill without reaching a conclusion and then took up the Paris exposition and sent to the Senate an elaborate report of Gen Humphrey's, recommending Government aid in repairing levees on the Lower Mississippi.

The Senate financial committee will report on the internal tax bill on Monday next The committee have added to the free list, sulphur, salt-peter, American wines and cordials. They have taken out of free list, paper, except printing, levying a tax of 5 per cent. on all other qualities. The tax on clothing is raised from one to two per cent. In place of the ad valorem rate on cigars, they have established a uniform rate of ten dollars per 1,000 on all cigars valued at over $12 per 1,000; smoking tobacco is fixed at 15 cts. per pound instead of 25; House section in regard to income tax stricken out, leaving tax as it now stands. The tax of 1 per cent on issues of State bonds is suspended for one year from July 1st.

Chicago, June 16.—Senator Conness, from the committee on mines and mining affairs, reported a substitute to Sherman's bill to regulate the occupation of mineral lands and the extent of the right of pre-emption thereto, of which substitute the committee say in their report: "By this bill it is only promised to dispose of the veins, mines, and to provide for the segregation of agricultural lands lying within mineral ranches. The proposition is to transfer title to possessors at reasonable rates, and part of that rate is to secure the payment of 3 per cent of annual net proceeds into the Treasury until the national debt shall have been paid; and this percentage is to be in lieu of all tax imposed upon bullion at the mines and assay offices under the existing laws. It is not proposed to interfere with or impose any tax on miners in working mines, as those mines are readily exhausted and not generally remunerative. And another feature of the substitute is, that it admits of regulations of the miners where the same is not conflicting with the laws of the United States."

Julian, from the House committee on public lands, has submitted an elaborate report on the sale of mineral lands, to accompany the bill recently reported by him in the House. The report argues that the policy of reservation has proved a most signal failure, and illustrates, by quoting from the late report to the Nevada Senate, showing an utter want of conformity, and the confusion confounded, which prevails, growing out of the uncertainty of titles. The report advocates vesting the fee simple to miners to the extent of 40 acres to each person, and the bill reported, expressly authorizes departure from the rectangular system of survey when necessary, and the adoption of boundaries agreed upon by mining occupants.

Excitement in Gold—Cotton.—Foreign News.

New York, June 16.—Steamer news caused unwonted excitement in gold to-day. Cotton ruled dull at 39@41.

An Imperial Austrian decree suspends laws for protection of personal liberty in Venetia and other southern parts of the empire. Authority to do likewise and to establish Military Courts is given to the General commanding the Army of the North. The Austrian army is now 800,000 strong, of whom 600,000 will comprise the army of operations, viz: 350,000 against the Prussian army, which consists of 452 battalions of infantry, 321 squadrons cavalry and 1,058 field pieces It is the largest Prussian army ever set afloat. Italian volunteers number 96,000, and more are being forwarded daily, and headquarters were swarming with troops. The Emperor of Austria was expected at Prague, should war break out.

Berlin advices say that Bismarck would accompany the King as soon as he proceeds to headquarters. The Royal body guard left Holstein on the 5th Prince Frederick Charles would leave for the headquarters of the Prussian army in Silesia on the 7th, and his staff was en route thither The Sixth Austrian commander is said to have convoked the estates of Holstein for the 11th of June by order of the Emperor.

The Saxon chamber of deputies had voted the credits required by the Government and approved the projected armament.

Great agitation prevails in Venice owing to forced loan and refusal of the municipality to co-operate in collecting it. Large numbers had deserted the city in consequence of the new conscription The authorities had made arrangements to carry away the goods and valuables of the Basilica of St. Marks Prince Dulerr says the reservation of Austria of her acceptance of conference prevented any thorough examination of the Austrian-Italian difference and adds that England and Russia consider that under these circumstances the deliberations of the conference would have no real utility. The Government of the Emperor could not but show these opinions and relinquish for the present the hope it entertained from its immediate assembling of the plenipotentiaries

Death of Gen. Lewis Cass—National Bank Statements.

Detroit, June 17.—Gen. Lewis Cass died at 4 o'clock this morning, aged 85 years

Washington, June 18.—Nearly all the national depositories and sub-treasuries have responded to Mr Hooper's recent circular directing them to forward to the committee on banking and currency a statement of the amount of Government funds in their custody on the first of May last The returns thus far received show the amount remaining to the credit of disbursing officers were forty-one million dollars Coin on hand, ninety four millions, currency and deposits, one hundred and thirty-six millions Total two hundred and thirty millions, of which some one hundred and eighty-nine millions were subject to draft by the Treasurer The returns from banks not heard from yet will probably swell the amount to two hundred and thirty three millions

The Rosseau-Grinnell Case.

The special committee appointed by the House to investigate the assault on Grinnell will be armed for one week Gen Rosseau and Mr Grinnell have both left the city

Records in the War Department show there still remain in the volunteer service twenty two Major Generals and twenty Brigadier Generals

Governor Hamilton, of Texas, arrived here yesterday

Later Cases of Cholera.

New York, June 17.—Since last night's report three deaths by cholera have occurred in this city, and three at Quarantine The Board of Health are making every effort to check the spread of the scourge Physicians are kept at head-quarters and cart loads of disinfectants are to be carried to places where the disease has occurred Considerable alarm is felt here to-night about the epidemic

The Eugene News after a brief and profitless existence, died last week, of "unrealized expectations"—a sort of back action cash account which, like an unsound musket, recoiled and kicked the owner over.

The Mountaineer has discontinued daily publication and will hereafter appear only weekly The cause assigned is want of adequate support. The publisher proposes to issue, at some time hereafter, a tri-weekly

For some time past the travel to Boise has been steadily drawing off from the Canyon City route and taking safer, though otherwise less desirable routes, on account of the want of protection from Indian marauders along the Canyon road

Mortality.—These are times which try mens souls. Death rides about, grim, hungry and inexorable, marking here a blooming flower for his own and there a dry stalk to become his, when its fullness shall have been measured. Just now the grim old cavalier is revelling among copperhead newspapers, rattling their dry bones with a demoniacal glee which shows him quite as heartless as when he tripped our forefather and foremother out of Eden and taught them how to sweat for bread. The Umatilla Index fell early, nipped in the very bud of promising infancy. No mourners and no cards. The Eugene News fell next. It was a crabbed bantling and a graceless youth. Nobody cared for it and nobody gave it junket or sup—and so it starved. It quarrels now only with the worms. Death has been very near to the door of the Review, if we may believe reports. The last two issues crept into the world only "half made up"—feeble, tottering and wheezy. If not dead, it certainly was "whistling past a graveyard." The Democrat, last week, sported half a winding sheet while Death walked complacently and with springing step a pace or two only behind. This week, it has given no sign of life as yet, and rumors are rife that it has fallen asleep. The Courier and the Herald are left to contest the palm alone. There is work now for another "Old Mortality" with his mallet and chisel to carve suitable inscriptions on the monuments of those who have thus timelessly perished.

He is truly a Stump Speaker who, when talking, exhibits a mouthful of stumps If you would keep your dental fixtures in perfect talking order, use the fragrant Sozodont daily; the recipe is simple but sure

An Extended Popularity.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been before the public many years Each year finds them in new localities in various parts of the world. The Troches are pronounced universally superior to all other articles used for similar purposes. For relieving Coughs, Colds, and Throat Diseases, the Troches have been proved reliable

THE CITY ELECTION.—The election yesterday in this city for Councilmen resulted in the selection of A. B. Hallock, Democrat, to represent the First Ward of the city for three years. Wm. Bennett ... to represent the Second Ward for three years, and M. O'Connor, Democrat, to fill vacancy in the same Ward. In the Third Ward T. J. Carter, Union, was elected for three years, and J. C. Carson, Union, to fill vacancy. The vote of the city was as follows:

FIRST WARD.

A. B. Hallock	113
C. Bills	151
H. F. Bloch	33
Total number of votes	394
Hallock's majority	59

SECOND WARD.

Wm. Bennett	250
M. O'Connor	218
... Ross	122
Scattering	18
Total number of votes	340
O'Connor's majority over Ross	90

THIRD WARD.

T. J. Carter	177
J. C. Carson	137
Scattering	9
Total number of votes	279
Total vote of the city	1,013

Mr H. F. Bloch withdrew from the canvass in the First Ward at an early hour in the day, not being desirous of running on partizan grounds.

The Council will now stand as follows: First Ward—John McCraken, P. C. Schuyler, Jr., A. B. Hallock.
Second Ward—A. Rosenheim, M. O'Connor, Wm. Bennett.
Third Ward—J. P. O. Lownsdale, T. J. Carter, J. C. Carson.

The returns show an increase of 221 votes over the vote of 1865, and 144 over the vote of April 1864. The polls for three years are as follows:

	1st Ward	2d Ward	3d Ward	Total
1864	390	252	134	875
1865	221	376	191	788
1866	394	340	279	1,010

INSANITY.—On a recent visit to the Oregon Asylum for the Insane we became convinced that it was wrong to publish the name of an unfortunate person sent to such institutions for treatment, on account of the influences such matters exert upon the public when the patient shall have been restored to health, as is now quite often the case. With this view we have since omitted names. The modern and civilized treatment of the insane may be traced directly to the influence of Christian advancement, and in these days a large percentage of this unfortunate class of people are restored to a life of happiness. History informs us that it is not many centuries since an insane person was considered a fair object for the grossest cruelty and abuse. In the fourteenth century there were in England and Constantinople places set apart for the insane, styled, with ghastly irony, "Houses of Mercy," in which the poor lunatics, dependant on charity for their daily bread, were chained to the floor, receiving from their keepers a weekly beating. In other countries, also, under the impression that their misfortune had been sent by an offended deity, in punishment for some crime, they were chained in cages like wild beasts, and drawn through the streets, a target for the jeers and hootings of the populace. In the earliest mad-houses in Western Europe, England and France, filth, starvation, chains and the free use of the rod, were the lot of the unhappy maniac, while, in many instances, those whose lunacy did not render them dangerous, were left to wander through communities to beg or starve, as fortune should direct. It was not until the beginning of the present century that a real step was made toward the amelioration of this unfortunate class, and how rapidly the steps have succeeded one another in the United States, may be realized when we refer to private letters and public reports on the subject from the various institutions of this country. We have before us correspondence from Dr. J. C. Hawthorne, which gives a very interesting and detailed account of his visits to the asylums of Connecticut, Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, and other States. There are wants to be supplied in most all asylums, but the Doctor writes these will be supplied in time, and the patients will be all the better for them. The fact is so well established that bodily exercise and diversion of the mind constitute a considerable part of the curative treatment for the insane, that no institution of high character, and well established reputation will be long without affording these means. Everything, however, cannot be accomplished at once, and the directors of those asylums which are deficient find, that to do as best they may, much time and labor is required to perfect such plans, and carry out all needful regulations. In all the visits made by Dr Hawthorne, the universal rule of locating asylums, and one considered to be highly necessary by those having charge of such matters, is to fix it upon ground sufficiently elevated to afford perfect drainage, besides being more salubrious and cheerful. In this particular we have before alluded to the advantages of the position of the Oregon Asylum. California is an exception to this rule. The asylum for that State stands on a low flat plain, which in the winter season may very appropriately be denominated a bog. The steps made in the advancement of civilization, respecting the treatment of insane persons, are great indeed, and we are proud to know that notwithstanding the rapidity of the scale that, here in Oregon our State institution is but a few paces behind the best institutions of the country. The ... system for the insane is being rapidly abolished, and counties are getting more into the custom of sending their insane-poor to the State asylum, which is now the general custom in Oregon.

TERRIFIC ACCIDENT.—A team of horses belonging to Messrs. Bennett & White, and driven by Mr. Meerholtz, accompanied by Mr. Oppenheimer, ran away yesterday when entering the city from the south. The team dashed down Front street at a fearful rate, and when crossing Taylor street threw both gentlemen out of the carriage. Keeping on in their headlong race the horses soon fell upon a dray, which was standing between Yamhill and Taylor streets, smashing the buggy to pieces, and breaking in two places the right fore leg of one of the animals. The wreck was here picked up, the buggy taken to the shop for repairs, and the less injured horse, together with the harness of both, taken to the stable of its owners. The horse which was fatally injured was left in the street, and was a most sorry sight to look upon. It hobbled along to First street, and endeavored to reach the stable, but this was impossible, and finally the sufferings of the poor brute, in that condition, were made known to Marshal Hoyt, who, in order to get the animal out of the way, and relieve its misery, ordered it to be killed and dragged out of the city, which was done. Both Mr. Oppenheimer and Mr Meerholtz were badly injured—the latter, we understand, quite seriously.

COUNTY COURT.—E. D. SHATTUCK Judge.—Monday, June 18th, 1866. The demurrers in the Chinese murder case, and the case of J. B. Carter, indicted for murder in the second degree, were overruled, and defendants pleaded not guilty......The case of the State vs. Louis Andrews, indicted for assault with intent to kill, was continued until next term of Court.

PERSONAL.—Capt. Charles Holman, O. Joynt, Esq., and Mr. A. C. Farnsworth, of Portland, were at the Russ House, San Francisco, June 13th......Miss Carrie Simon, formerly of Portland, was announced to make her first appearance at Maguire's Academy of Music on the evening of the 16th.

RECORDER'S COURT.—The regular levee of His Honor Judge Hoffman yesterday was thinly attended. A. P. Arnold was sent to jail for the term of two days for drunkenness, and John Walsh a similar space of time for resisting an officer when under arrest.

UNION CENTRAL COMMITTEE.—The following named gentlemen have been selected as the Union Central Committee of this city for the ensuing two years: First Ward—L. H. Wakefield; Second Ward—W. H. Watkins; Third Ward—T. J. Carter.

MESSAGE.—A message is awaiting delivery at the telegraph office for J. D. Thornton, care of F. W. Knapp.

"TEMPUS FUGIT"—TIME FLIES. It is well that we should all be admonished of the truth of the above Latin quotation. In view of that fact go to ELLSWORTH & CARDWELL'S GALLERY, 59 First Street, and get your features transferred to those beautiful styles of CARD PHOTOGRAPHS, SUN PEARLS, MELAINOTYPES, AMBROTYPES, etc.

The Herald's Musical Critic.

ED. OREGONIAN:

In Sunday morning's issue of the Herald appeared an immense and learned criticism on the late Concert of the Portland Philharmonic Society. Now the fact obtains in every well regulated and respectable newspaper office to carefully abstain from criticising exclusive amateur performers, but in every way to encourage all laudable efforts on the part of private individuals to elevate and refine musical taste. This critic has evidently studied the model notices which appear in papers of the class of the New York Herald, the Clipper or Illinois points ... in the ... Sun his issue of the paper ... the ... want of ... and ... the principal ... "ticket" speaks of ... This distinguished ... This article shows that he overflows with that character ... It is to be regretted that this professed judge of one of the most ancient and beautiful arts should have written himself down such a ... and exhibit such a total want of justness and fairness. Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.—These Bitters are universally acknowledged to be a sure preventive and cure for Fever and Ague, Flatulence, Heaviness of the Stomach, or any other like affection. Their effect upon the system is most miraculous: they give a healthy tone to the system, relieve all morbid matter, and in fact thoroughly cleanse the system of all impurities. In no case has it been known to fail, but on the contrary, new virtues have been found in its use. To those afflicted with any of the above ills of the body, the "Bitters" are offered as a speedy and certain cure. Try them and form your own opinion.—Sold by Druggists and dealers everywhere. my20 HODGE, CALEF, & Co, 97, Front St.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try the celebrated

PLANTATION BITTERS,

Which are now recommended by the highest medical authorities, and warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure, and must supersede all other tonics where a healthy, gentle stimulant is required.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.

They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya bark, wintergreen, sassafras, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum. For particulars, see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.

Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U. S. Stamp unmutilated over the cork, with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in bulk, is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eye on several parties re-filling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

G. VENARD,

CHARTRES COFFEE!

Manufactory Established in June, 1851.

STEAM POWER, NOS 625 AND 627 FRONT ST

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS

READ AND REFLECT.

Make sure of HEALTH. "But how?" you ask;
We answer, 'tis an easy task,
Strengthen the STOMACH, and sustain
The NERVES, the servants of the brain.
The LIVER keep in active play
And regulate from day to day
Each organ aid, on Nature's plan,
Brace and refresh the INNER MAN,
And like a watch that's kept in chime
By constant care, with railroad time,
The system's tone and strength renew,
And thereby cheer the spirits, too.
"How," you inquire, "can this be done?
This Victory o'er Disease be won?"
"HOSTETTER'S BITTERS," we reply,
Is HEALTH'S SUPREME PROTECTION—TRY!

As a means of regenerating the disordered and enfeebled system, regulating every function of the internal organs, reviving the depressed spirits, invigorating the constitution, and prolonging life, no medicinal preparation, either of the past or the present time, has been so completely and universally successful as

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

Against the vapors foul prepare,
That fever-taint the heavy air.
Drink not unmixed the water found
In prairies, woods or marshy ground.
If sedentary toil you ply,
Nature you must assist—or die—
For when debarred from exercise
For artificial aid she cries.
Medicine's grand purpose and intent
Is threatened evil to prevent.
And if you'd be relieved or spared
From ills that crush the unprepared,
Hostetter's Bitters use—for note
They are the SUREST ANTIDOTE.

To set at defiance the miasma of unhealthy soils, the poison of unwholesome water, the effluvia of crowded work-rooms and factories, and the baneful influence of sedentary employments, it is only necessary to be forearmed with

Dyspepsia's pangs, that rack and grind
The body, and depress the mind;
Agues, that as they go and come,
Make life a constant martyrdom;
Colics and dysentric pains,
'Neath which the strong man's vigor wanes;
Bilious complaints, those tedious ills,
Ne'er conquered yet by drastic pills;
Dread diarrhoea that cannot be
Cured by destructive mercury;
Slow constitutional decay
That brings Death nearer, day by day;
Nervous prostration, mental gloom—
Heralds of madness or the tomb;
For these—though mineral nostrums fail—
Means of Relief at least we hail,
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS—medicine sure,
Not to prevent, alone, but cure.

In dyspepsia, fever and ague, bilious complaints, constitutional and nervous debility, constipation, sea-sickness, spasms, and in all complaints of Man or Woman, proceeding from casual or inherent weakness of the body, the one great remedy and restorative is

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

To wanderers on sea or land,
From Polar shore to Tropic strand;
To households long, in regions new,
And dwellers in great cities, too;
To soldiers in camp, fort and field,
Who need against disease a shield;
To miners, California bound,
And tillers of wet, marshy ground,
To feeble wives of fragile mold,
To young and middle-aged, and old,
To those in health, who would enjoy
Heaven's best gifts without alloy;
To all the strengthless, weak and pale,
Who droop, yet know not what they ail,
Hostetter's Bitters we present
As Health's most potent element.

If there is any value in public opinion, or any weight in medical testimony, the very best and safest Tonic, Corrective and Alterative now before the world is

Pungent Consideration of the Various Trades and Callings

BY MILES O'REILLY.

Of all the trades that men may call
  Unpleasant and offensive,
The Editor's is worst of all,
  For he is ever pensive,
His leaders lead to nothing high,
  His columns are unstable
And though the printers make him pi,
  It does not suit his table.

The Carpenter—his course is plane,
  His bit is always near him;
He augers every hour of gain
  His chisels and none jeer him
He shaves by the net clear, they say,
  The public pay his board, sir,
Full of wise saws he bores away
  And so he swells his hoard, sir.

St. Crispin's son—the man of shoes,
  Has awl things at control, sir,
He waxes wealthy in his views,
  But ne'er neglects his sole, sir;
His is indeed a heeling trade,
  And when we come to casting
The toe tal profits he has made,
  We find his ends are lasting.

The Tailor, too, gives fits to all,
  Yet never gets a basting,
His cabbages, however small
  Are most delicious tasting,
His goose is heated—happy prig!
  Unstinted in his measure;
He always plays at thimble rig,
  And seams a man of pleasure.

The Farmer reaps a fortune plump,
  Though harrowed, far from woe, sir,
His spade forever proves a trump,
  His hook is Pee-an-hoe, sir,
However corned, he does not slip,
  Though husky, never hoarse, sir,
And in a plow-share partnership,
  He gets his share of course, sir.

The Sailor on the giddy mast—
  Comparatively master—
Has many a bulwark round him cast
  To wave away disaster;
Even shrouds to him are full of life,
  His mainstay still is o'er him,
A gallant and top-gallant crew,
  Of beaux esprits before him.

The sturdy Irish Laborer picks
  And climbs to fame—'tis funny,
He deals with none but regular bricks,
  And so he pockets money.
One friend sticks to him (mortar 'tis)
  In hodden gray unbaffled,
He leaves below an honest name
  When he ascends the scaffold.

The Printer, though his case be hard,
  Yet sticks not at his hap, sir,
'Tis his to canonize the bard,
  And trim a Roman cap sir.
Some go two-forty—what of that?
  He goes it by the thousand!
A man of form and fond of fat,
  He loses the song I now send.

The Engine-Driver, if we track
  His outward semblance deeper,
Has got some very tender traits—
  He ne'er disturbs the sleeper:
And when you switch him as he goes,
  He whistles all the louder;
And when you break him on the wheel,
  It only makes him prouder.

I launched this skiff of rhyme upon
  The trade winds of the muses;
Through pungent seas they've borne it on,
  The boat no rudder uses
So masticate its meaning once,
  And judge not sternly of it—
You'll find a freight of little puns,
  And very little profit.

Reception of the Plan of Restoration.

The Congressional plan of reconstruction was not intended to suit the views of those who hold that the war of rebellion involved no pains or penalties, and that the traitors while carrying on a war under a government of their own to destroy that of the nation, retained all the rights and privileges of citizens and States of the National Union, and resumed them all by the act of defeat in the war. It was not expected that we could make a plan of settlement of four years of belligerency conform to the easy going ideas of Mr. Alexander H. Stephens, who holds that secession is clearly a State right, and that although the Confederate States have been defeated in their assertion of it, they and their citizens might have lost none of their rights in the Union.

And it is strong confirmation of the merits of the plan, that it has encountered the opposition of only the class who entertain these ideas. It is objected to it that it treats the States as if the four years of war as a hostile belligerent power had affected their relations as States in the nation so that the National Government has the right to prescribe conditions for their restoration. That was the intention, and that, is the principle which the loyal people intend to maintain. It is objected to it that it treats treason as a crime which incurs the penalties of political disabilities, and that it actually prevents traitors from at once resuming all the political privileges as citizens, and from taking upon themselves the powers of the government. That is the intention, and the loyal people mean to maintain the principle.

We regard these objections as commendations, and the fact that these include about all that is urged against the plan by the late insurgents and their confederates, seems to us an excellent endorsement. We judge from this, and from the feature of the plan, that it will draw the line of two divisions, one of which will be those who hold that secession is a right, and its assertion by war was no crime, and incurred no penalties, and that the right is still unimpaired, though wrongfully prevented by force; and the other those who hold that secession is treason, and that it shall be so established, and that while they will treat the conquered rebels with unprecedented magnanimity, they will insist on guarantees that shall repudiate the right of secession, establish its criminality, and protect the nation against any future attempt to assert it.

There is no other alternative. The line is so plain that men must take one side or the other. Either secession is a right, which being wrongfully withheld from the Confederates States by force, they resume their former relations and jurisdictions, with all the political privileges of their citizens existing the same as before, or it is no right, and the war is rebellion and treason, and they who made it must submit to such terms as the outraged nation shall see fit to impose.

The first is the doctrine of Mr. ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS and of the Confederate Democratic party, of whom he now appears to be the recognized leader.

According to it the Confederate rebels, when they were wrongfully overcome by force, retained all their rights of State Government and of citizenship, and the overthrow and reconstruction of their Government was an act of usurpation on the part of the General Government. According to his doctrine, as expounded in his testimony before the Reconstruction Committee, the United States Government is the criminal in the war, and President Johnson is guilty of usurpation for setting aside the rebel Governments. The Confederates have to suspend the assertion of their constitutional rights before superior force, but they still retain them, and can assert them again without crime, or carry them out by getting control of the United States Government.

According to this exposition Mr. Stephens when he renews his oath of allegiance to the Constitution of the United States, does it with the understanding that the right of secession is still retained by his State, and that his oath will be no hindrance and no pledge against his again engaging in secession if he and his State shall deem it policy to try it again. And Mr. Stephens presents himself to enter upon the office of United States Senator, and to take the oath of allegiance to the Constitution of the United States, with this declaration of its treacherous character, and he is accepted as "a marvelous proper" Democratic Union man.

To take him in, the loyal people who have preserved the Government against rebellion, the Congress, President and all who have adhered to the Union cause, must confess themselves criminals, and worthy of any penalties that the Confederates may impose if they ever get the power. They must concede that every obligation incurred in carrying on a war against his constitutional right of secession, is illegal and void. And President Johnson must confess that his acts setting aside State Governments, and setting up new ones by his arbitrary power, were acts of usurpation which merit impeachment and capital penalty.

On the other hand if secession is no right, if there is no shadow of legal justice for this murderous rebellion, if the Confederates are traitors, and if, when citizens levy war against the nation, they forfeit the rights and privileges of citizenship, and the nation has the right to prescribe the penalty for their crime, and the terms upon which they shall be restored to their relations as citizens, how can greater magnanimity be asked than is granted in this plan, which gives to inhabitants who have carried on a four years' war under a government which they claimed to be foreign, the immediate control of their State governments, upon the condition of equal laws for administering justice to all classes, and which requires only an equalization of representation, and that traitors shall be disqualified from a voice in the national Government for the short probation of four years, and that the principal officers of the treasonable Government shall be excluded from office in the nation?

If the war of secession is a crime, is there any in the criminal calendar that equals it in atrocity? Is it not magnanimity without parallel that men guilty of this sea of innocent blood shall be permitted to retain life, liberty, property, position in society, and control of local government, and shall have no other penalty than to be deprived of a voice in the National Government for as many years as they carried on a war to destroy it? If we mean to establish that to levy war against the nation is a crime, can we permit the leaders of such a war as this has been, to return to the highest offices in the Government, as if they were guiltless, and to be again entrusted with the fate of the nation they betrayed?

So far as we have observed the opposition to this plan of restoration comes almost entirely from those who hold that the rebellion was no crime, and that the rebels incurred no legal penalties, either personal or political, who think it a radical wrong that red handed traitors are not at once brought into the Government, and that the leading Confederate officers are not translated into the leading positions in the National Government. Thus the plan distinctly raises the issue, whether the settlement shall be the establishment of the right of secession, and the criminality of the Government in preventing it, or whether it shall be established that secession is a crime, or in the words of Mr. Johnson, that treason shall be made odious and traitors punished.

The people who carried the Government through the terrible war, and who did not flag though three hundred thousand of their sons were slain by it, will sustain it in this, which Mr. Johnson calls "the third ordeal." They will not dishonor the graves of the patriot soldiers by exalting traitors. The issue is as plainly made up by this plan of restoration as it was in the conflict of arms, and it may be presented to the people with confidence that they will meet this as they did the greater ordeal.—Cincinnati Gazette.

President's Veto of the Colorado Bill.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The following is the President's message, vetoing the Colorado admission bill, to the Senate of the United States:

I return to the Senate, in which house it was originated, the bill which has passed both houses of Congress, entered "An Act for the admission of the State of Colorado into the Union," with my objections. From the information which I have been able to obtain, I do not consider the establishment of a State Government at present necessary for the welfare of the people in Colorado. Under the existing Territorial Government all the rights, privileges and interests of the citizens are protected and secured. The qualified voters choose their own legislators and their own local officers, and are represented in Congress by a delegate of their own selection. They make and execute their own municipal laws, subject only to revision by Congress—an authority not likely to be exercised unless in extreme or extraordinary cases. The population is small, some estimating it as low as 25,000, while the advocates of the bill reckon the number at from 35,000 to 40,000. The people are principally recent settlers, many of whom are understood to be ready for removal to other mining districts beyond the limits of the Territory if circumstances shall render them more inviting. Such a population cannot but find relief from excessive taxation if the Territorial system which devolves the expenses of the Executive, Legislative and Judicial Departments upon the United States is for the present continued. They cannot but find the security of person and property increased by their reliance upon the maintenance of law and order against the disturbances necessarily incident to all newly organized communities.

Second—It is not satisfactorily established that a majority of the citizens of Colorado desire or are prepared for an exchange of a Territorial for a State Government. In September, 1864, under the authority of Congress, an election was lawfully appointed and held for the purpose of ascertaining the views of the people upon the particular question, and 6,192 votes were cast. Of this number, a majority of 3,152 was given against the proposed change. In September, 1865, without any legal authority, the question was again presented to the people of the Territory, with a view of obtaining a reconsideration of the result of the election held in compliance with the Act of Congress, approved March 21, 1864. At this second election, 5,905 votes were polled, and a small majority of 155 was given in favor of a State organization. It does not seem to me entirely safe to permit this last mentioned result, so irregularly obtained, to outweigh the one which had been legally obtained in the first election. Regularity and conformity to law are essential to the preservation of order and stable government, and should, as far as practicable, always be observed in the formation of new States.

Third—The admission of Colorado, at this time, as a State in the Union, appears to me to be incompatible with the public interest of the country. While it is desirable that Territories, when sufficiently matured, should be organized as States, yet the spirit of the Constitution seems to require that there should be an approximation toward equality among the several States composing the Union. No State can have less, or more than two Senators in Congress. The largest State has a population of four millions; Several of the States have a population exceeding two millions, and many others have a population exceeding one million.

If this bill should become a law, the people of Colorado, thirty thousand in number, would have in the House of Representatives one member, while New York with a population of four millions has but thirty-one. Colorado would have in the Electoral College three votes, while New York has only thirty-three. Colorado would have in the Senate two votes, while New York has no more.

Inequalities of this character have already occurred, but it is believed none have happened where the inequality was so great. When such inequality has been allowed, Congress is supposed to have permitted it on the ground of some high public necessity, and under circumstances which promised that it would rapidly disappear through the growth and development of the newly admitted State. Thus in regard to the several States in what was formerly called the Northwest Territory, lying east of the Mississippi. Their rapid advance in population rendered it certain that the States admitted with only one or two Representatives in Congress would in a very short period, be entitled to a great increase of representation. When California was admitted on the ground of commercial and political exigencies, it was well foreseen that that State was destined rapidly to become a great, prosperous and important mining and commercial State. In the case of Colorado I am not aware that any national exigency either of a political or commercial nature requires a departure from the law of equality which has been so generally adhered to in our history. If the information submitted in connection with this bill is reliable, Colorado, instead of increasing, has declined in population. At an election for members for a Territorial Legislature held in 1861, 10,588 votes were cast. At the election before mentioned in 1864, the number was 6,192, while at the regular election held in 1865, which is assumed for a basis of legislative action at this time, the aggregate number of votes was 5,905. Sincerely anxious for the welfare and prosperity of every Territory and State, as well as for the prosperity and welfare of the whole Union, I regret this apparent decline of population in Colorado. But it is manifest it is owing to emigration, which is going on from that Territory into other regions of the United States, which either are in fact, or believed by the inhabitants of Colorado to be, richer in mineral wealth and agricultural resources. If, however, Colorado has not really declined in population, another census or another election under authority of Congress would place the question beyond doubt, and cause but little delay in the ultimate reception of the Territory as a State, if desired by the people. The tenor of these objections furnishes the reply which may be expected to an argument in favor of the measure derived from the Enabling Act which was passed by Congress on the 21st day of March, 1864. Although Congress then supposed that the condition of the Territory was such as to warrant its admission as a State, the result of two years experience shows that every reason which existed for the institution of a Territorial instead of a State Government in Colorado at its first organization still continues in force. The condition of the Union at the present moment is calculated to inspire caution in regard to the admission of new States. Eleven of the old States have been some time and still remain unrepresented in Congress. It is a common interest of all the States as well as those unrepresented that the integrity and harmony of the Union should be restored as completely as possible, so that those who are expected to bear the burden of the Federal Government shall be consulted concerning the admission of new States, and that in the meantime no new State shall be prematurely and unnecessarily admitted to a participation in the political power which the Federal Government wields, not for the benefit of any individual state or section, but for the common safety, welfare and happiness of the whole country.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

WASHINGTON (D.C.), May 15th, 1866.

THE PRESIDENT'S POLICY.—The Raleigh Standard, Governor Holden's paper, says that the President's policy in North Carolina is a complete failure that ultra secessionists now fill every office in the State, from the highest to the lowest, and that the secession leaders are determined that Union men shall never govern the State. We think the Standard is entirely wrong in its estimate of the President's policy. Our own idea is that from the start he intended that secessionists should hold all the offices in the South.—Stockton Independent.

At a church in Scotland, two candidates offered to preach, of the names of Adam and Low. The last preached in the morning, and took for his text, "Adam, where art thou?" In the evening, Mr. Adam preached, and took for his text, "Lo, I am here."

Wade Hampton's Bluster.

Wade Hampton, whom Senator Sherman lately described as the most impudent rebel in Dixie, wrote a letter on the 21st of April to deny the statement of General Sherman as to the burning of Columbia. General Sherman asserted that "the citizens set fire to the cotton, that he tried to extinguish those fires, that he saw in a Columbia newspaper, the printed order of General Wade Hampton, that on the approach of the Yankee army, all the cotton should be burned, and from what I saw myself I have no hesitation in saying that he was the cause of the destruction of the city." In response to which, Wade Hampton says

"I deny emphatically that any cotton was fired in Columbia by my order.

"I deny that the citizens 'set fire to thousands of bales rolled out into the street.'

"I deny that any cotton was on fire when the Federal troops entered the city."

It is easy to see that Hampton evades, instead meeting, General Sherman's charge. He does not deny that he gave the order to burn the cotton, which General Sherman says he saw in a Columbia newspaper. The failure to deny is equivalent to an admission, and if he did give that order, the other points are immaterial, because the issuing of the order fixes the responsibility. Whether the cotton was on fire when the Union troops entered is a question of fact to which Wade Hampton cannot speak, as he was a good distance away at that time, but to which other persons, who were on the spot, may be heard. We find in an evening paper of this city the following testimony:

"The investigation need not be laborious; every street has a witness. Ask any adult, 'Who exploded the South Carolina Railroad depot?' The answer is, Wheeler's cavalry.' Ask the adult servants, 'Who burned cotton in the streets?' and the reply is, 'I did, by massa's order.' 'Who gave the Federal troops liquor?' 'The servants did, by their masters' orders, so that they might be made drunk and the city retaken by Hampton.' 'Who promised the ladies to defend their city inch by inch, instead of surrendering and preserving it?' 'The Confederates.'

"One of the most beautiful ladies in Columbia said lately that she was tired of hearing so much about the burning of Columbia, it was only a judgment, that she saw it burning before the Yankees came in."

Still more precise is this affidavit:

"I, William B. Nash, do solemnly swear that I was in the city of Columbia (S. C.) at the time of the entry of General Sherman, in February, 1865. I had not been out of the city during that month previous to the entry of the Union army. I saw the South Carolina Railroad depot buildings burning before any Union soldiers entered the city; I saw corpses, killed by the explosion of the depot. The bridge across the Congaree had been tarred the night before the day of the entry, and I saw it burning on that day. I saw cotton burning in the street, before Gluyard's, before the troops entered. I presume there were thirty bales in that spot. I saw the light from the burning of the Charlotte Railroad depot before the entry of the troops. W. B. NASH.

"Personally appeared before me this 6th day of May, 1866, at Columbia (S. C.), and made oath as above. RALPH ELY,

"Brevet Brig. Gen., U. S. V., and A. A. Com. B. R. F. and A. D. Dist. Western S. C."

We will not pay Wade Hampton the absurd compliment of supposing that his assertion is worth refuting by such positive evidence as this. But there are people who suppose that some credible testimony exists tending to prove that not Wade Hamilton but General Sherman burned the city of Columbia, and we print the foregoing for their benefit. They might, in addition, ask General Hampton, the next time they see him, how he expected to keep his promise to defend Columbia without exposing it to destruction by bombardment; and how the proclamation to burn and destroy everything before the Yankees was to be carried into effect consistently with the safety of Columbia? And, finally, if it was right for the rebels to burn, why would it have been wrong for General Sherman?—N. Y. Tribune.

A PERSONAL ALTERCATION.—The Solano (Cal.) Press of June 6th relates the following:

One day last week, while one of our Union citizens of somewhat gassy proclivities was holding a sort of political "confab" with a certain member of the green cloth fraternity, they were approached by a person, who, by the way, arrived on the coast not long since, just as one of the parties came to that stereotyped Democratic twaddle about Ben. Butler in New Orleans, his thieving propensity, etc., and, on hearing which he emphatically pronounced the whole story false—a d—d lie, sir! Said he. "I served three years under Butler—was with him at New Orleans, and I know there is no truth in what you say concerning him." Such language, addressed to him, he was not accustomed to, and he gave vent to his feelings by saying that he wished he was fifteen years younger. "I wish you was," was the reply. "perhaps you have a friend that is, I have fought your kind for four years—volunteering when there was no bounty—and can fight them four years more, if necessary." The last we saw of "sport," that day, he was offering a chap, who was at least fifteen years his junior, fifty dollars to whip a certain person of his acquaintance; but we have not heard that there has been any whipping done yet.

A TEAM OF MAYORS.—The city of Springfield, Ohio, has two Mayors. The City Council recently impeached Mayor Snyder, and appointed a Mr. Flemming in his place. He, however, refused to abdicate, as will be seen by the subjoined card, which we clip from the Republic.

"A NEW BROOM SWEEPS CLEAN."

James Flemming, Mayor of the City of Springfield, Ohio, (by appointment of the City Council.)

may be found at regular hours, at the Council Room, in the City Hall building.

"Business is business, and must be attended to."

"FEW DIE, NONE RESIGN, AND FEW ARE REMOVED."

J. J. Snyder still continues the "Mayor business," at the old stand,

The custom of the law-breaking portion of the community is respectfully solicited.

Business done with the "old, original, reliable" City Docket and Seal.

GUERRILLAS IN MISSOURI.—A concurrence of testimony indicates that the ex-rebels of Missouri are preparing to renew the guerrilla warfare. Many of the better disposed class of rebels in widely different parts of the State have evinced of late a disposition to move to other States. Sixty late rebel soldiers, now in St. Louis, en route for Montana, state that they expect trouble from the acts of reckless men lately in the service of the rebels, and they wish to escape before the trouble which is sure to follow commences. Seven ex-rebels from St. Francis county, en route to Iowa to settle, give the same reason. An ex-rebel testified before the Grand Jury of Jackson county, last week, that many of the more desperate threaten to take to the bush in the spring.

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

LEFFEL'S

American Double Turbine Water Wheel

IS NOW MANUFACTURED BY THE OREGON IRON Works, in the city of Portland, and orders for the same can be filled immediately. We have a small supply of the different sizes, from 10 inches to 48 inches in diameter. That we may know the proper sized wheel you require, measure your water in the following way: Take the width of the stream, the average depth, and the distance it flows in a minute.

All the wheels now in use give universal satisfaction. Both the construction of the wheel and its performance, commend it to the better judgment of all minds capable of appreciating the highest development of mechanical construction. Therefore it has conquered the most violent opposition.

This wheel is especially adapted to mining purposes. It is light, and can be easily packed into the mountains. Wheels, weighing from 100 to 300 pounds will yield from 10 to 40 horse power, under a head of 25 or 30 feet. They are the cheapest wheel to set up known, as they are so arranged as to produce the greatest power possible from the water used.

The prices of these wheels have now been reduced to the ability of all. Come and see them or send for a circular to

Experience is of forty years standing, and during that time has met with unparalleled success in the treatment of all those diseases generally known as

Venereal or Chronic.

It is impossible here to mention all the diseases with which he is familiar, some, perhaps, will not be out of place. The most formidable, the most destructive to mankind is Self-Abuse. The brain being the seat of the disease the whole system suffers in consequence. I will here enumerate some of the symptoms, so that those afflicted may be able to form an opinion in regard to their complaints, and seek advice in time, thereby saving themselves a world of suffering: Nervous Debility, Loss of Memory, Pain in the Limbs and Back, Palpitation of the Heart, Trembling of the Limbs, Headache, and an Aversion to Social Society, especially that of Females. There are a great many more, but these [illegible] and should you be suffering from any of [illegible] DR. THAT OLD GREENBACK CASE

I am still obliged to accept of Legal Tender Notes at Par (and have been since Dec 17, 1862, for the rent of my Handsome Brick Store, corner of Morrison and Front streets, I feel compelled to announce for the benefit of the public, that

JACOB MAYER

Leased the building of me Feb. 17, 1862, for a term of years, at which time there was no such currency in vogue, and it was understood the terms were Cash. Since the date above stated I have received the depreciated currency regularly for the rent of the making less than two-fifths of the real amount said Mayer was to pay. He had secured the building at very advantageous rates, and even were he now to comply with his contract, and pay in Coin, would be getting the best bargain in the city. I make this statement to show the public what kind of a man he must be to take such undue advantage of the times to convert a few dollars to himself by LEGAL SWINDLING. The public can readily see how much it costs to have such tenants in such costly buildings as the one referred to above.
